At last we really had an opportunity for a Victory Dance, only it was called off because we decided that we might win.

We've decided to read before we criticize next time. We will have to take off our hat and everyone else's to the editor of The Colonial Review. How about some more contributions like those that appeared last time? There's no use sliding downhill.

Now we have a very important announcement to make to our public. Dick Rollo has decided to reform. This is the sad story of how it all happened. We went to the Pop Rally last Thursday night and heard many punk speeches, but they started us thinking for the first time in many a day (perhaps we should admit that it is really a matter of years.)

And we didn't get stuck in jail either. It just nearly killed us to think that our name was not in the paper the next day. Such a good opportunity for free publicity.

The outcome of this sudden change of policy is that from now on we are not going to make any more dirty cracks about Frank Westbrook. We love to plan him because really he is a pretty good egg.

Philosophically, George M. Cohan said: "I don't care what the people say about me, as long as they talk about me."

At this point we wish to add that in accordance with our new policy we are going to stop all this ballyhoo and razz about Coach Jim Eberness and his outfit. Like Westbrook, Jimmie is also a pretty good egg (hard boiled with salt and mustard) and he takes pretty good care of his boys and he gave us a victory over C. U. and besides he is bigger than Dick Rollo.

Dick Rollo is now trying hard to get a job as truant officer for the I. C. S.

Doc Bloedorn, of Gallinger Hospital, is made a member of the faculty of G. W. Med. School. Now the opportunity presents itself for mental observations by others than Moss & Co., examiners extraordinary for this institution since the year 1 A. D. of thereabouts.

Let us all form a party under the supervision of Ragatz and Kayser, with Rollo as bandmaster, and troup over to Fourteenth and H Streets.

The Law School has a course called Bankruptcy 220. Would like to suggest that those who had money on C. U., Northwestern, Maryland, and those betting that Wilbur would dismiss his 5:10 lecture last Friday night, consult students of this course for advice.

Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of the party, but that doesn't say anything about the G. W. Cods pulling hard for the Buff and Blue this Saturday. One stated in the presence of a Navy man that she would cheer for his team, then later added that the side for which she pulls always loses. Now it really is a tough decision to have to make, and we're glad that we have not an extensive acquaintanceship at the Academy.

And now some one on the football team has taken to throwing the ball in front of him and then running to catch up with it. Also the cheerleader of cheerleaders has gotten a job (or a position). What next, O Heck, what next?

Peanuts said that he never expected to live to see the day when Colonial students would fight over a little thing like a dummy, especially a tackling dummy.

If some one could only do something about the turkey yell, Dick Rollo would appreciate it very much.

The chorus for the Troubadour show thinks that it can cease to look like a row of plaster casts by jumping about and adding more make-up. Some poor souls are being fooled. Perhaps the make-up staff can paint smiles on their faces just before the show.

The Year's Worst Joke
"On account of the recent debate being Scotch, the concession was made to the opponents of having no decision."

As the well known collegian said to his roommate: "If I'm studying when you come in, please wake me up."

VARSITY MEETS NAVY SATURDAY AT ANNAPOLIS

Final Game Should Draw Large
G. W. Crowd; Team
Spirit Strong

A football game which has been anticipated by George Washington students since its announcement last February should cause many of them to take the road to Annapolis on Saturday, when their eleven closes its 1930 campaign with its biggest game in years—a contest with the formidable Navy team. The opening kick-off is scheduled for 2:30 o'clock.

Next to Catholic University, which was defeated last Friday night, no sweeter victory could be realized than one over the Middles on Saturday. Despite the fact that Navy has experienced only a mediocre season, having lost four games, Colonial fans know that a victory over the Middles would give their school national prestige and can be counted upon to be in full force in the stands at Annapolis.

However, on hard, cold facts, our team does not figure to upset the Middles. Although Navy has dropped four games, it has been defeated only by such teams as Notre Dame, Southern Methodist, Ohio State, and Duke, any of which are generally acknowledged to be among the cream of the country's collegiate gridiron machines. And its 6-0 victory over Maryland last Saturday has given Navy a new lease on life which augurs ill for its remaining opponents.

G. W. Schedule Weak

On the other hand, George Washington has played but one school that can be counted upon as even comparable to Navy. Through its 7-0 tie with Western Maryland last Saturday, it has a 23-0 advantage over a crippled Colonial eleven, has assumed a

Over-Exuberant Spirit Results In 26 Arrests

G. W. Has Thwarted Painting Ambitions of Cardinal Enthusiasts

Memories of G. W.'s oldest students are taxed to the utmost trying to remember any former time when the students had enough spirit over a football game to cause 16 of them to be hauled into a police station.

Thursday night's pep rally was so successful that a parade along F Street had to be disbanded by the strong arm of the law for fear that it would develop into a young riot.

And all of the trouble for the cops and the arrests of the students simply because the Buff and Blue football team was scheduled to meet Catholic U. on Friday night. But what a treat it was to see spirit surging in the breasts of the Old Colonial followers.

Corcoran Hall Defended

At a later hour the same evening, five G. W.ites defended the front steps of Corcoran Hall against the onslaughts of Cardinal backers who sought to apply decorations with white paint. This was followed by the arrest of ten of the attackers, who received chastisement at the Third Precinct in the form of an extended lecture on the subject of applying paint where paint is not desired.

An expedition into enemy territory by 15 spirited youths from the Colonial army netted the invaders a hall of milk bottles which no doubt caused the law enforcers of that vicinity no end of consternation. Before departing the scene of battle, however, the attackers managed to leave behind them the contents of a basket of assorted fruits in varying stages of decay. Said contents are believed to have been distributed to the best possible advantage.

The ill-fated 16 who fell into the clutches of the law at the First Precinct bailed themselves out for the night only to gather again the following morning in Police Court. Disorderly conduct charges were dismissed after a verbal dissertation by His Honor concerning the curbing of violent tendencies in connection with school spirit. The five dollars was refunded to each of the culprits.

Student Chapter of Electric Engineers To Be Created

The students of electrical engineering, under the leadership of R. M. Wood, are contemplating organization of a student chapter of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers.

All connected with this organization are requested to leave their names in the office of Dr. Arthur F. Johnson, acting dean of the School of Engineering, as their affiliation with the proposed chapter is desired.

Tickets For Navy Game

All students holding activity cards are entitled to one ticket in the George Washington cheering section, Sections L and N, north side. Exchange of cards for tickets will be made at the Bursar's office. No charge.

All holders of Alumni Season Cards are entitled to reserved seats in Section M, north side. Exchange at gym. No charge.

PI GAMMA MU IS INSTALLED HERE

National Social Science Honor Society Places Chapter At George Washington

Pi Gamma Mu, national social science honor society, installed its District of Columbia Beta chapter at The George Washington University on Tuesday, November 18, with a banquet and ceremonies in the North Room of the Mayflower Hotel.

Dr. S. Howard Patterson, professor at the University of Pennsylvania and national vice-president of Pi Gamma Mu, and Dr. Darrell B. Harmon, national secretary-treasurer of the society, were the installing officers. Major Julius I. Peyser, prominent local attorney and banker, represented the members-at-large of the District. Dr. John Donaldson, acting dean of Columbian College and organizer of the local chapter, acted as toastmaster.

Delivers Charge

Dr. Patterson delivered the charge to the new chapter. Recalling a recent sermon of Harry Emerson Fosdick, he stated that the classes of people in society—the ignorant, the ignorant, the sentimental, and the thinkers. He characterized the factors in intelligent action by the latter class as getting the facts, reasoning in a straight line, exercise of sound judgment in making a decision, and the action resulting. "If the careful, intelligent people do not take action, action will be taken by the ignorant," he said.

"We have made tremendous strides in technology, but how little progress has been made in the gentle art of living together," Dr. Patterson continued. Pi Gamma Mu, he said, aims to foster progress in all the social sciences, and to join the combats of modern knighthood toward solution of social problems and fair conduct on the new "field of the cloth of gold"—modern business.

Dr. Harmon, in reviewing the progress of Pi Gamma Mu to date, stated that since its founding in 1924 at Southwestern College, Winfield, Kans., the society has spread to over 100 other colleges and universities, and now has chapters in such institutions as William and Mary, the University of Pennsylvania, Pennsylvania State College, the University of Alabama, the University of Florida, and the University of Wyoming.

Pi Gamma Mu has for its goals the rewarding of excellence in the classroom in the study of the social sciences, and the encouragement of the scientific attitude in the study of social problems by undergraduates and alumni. It aims to combine the good features of the honor society and the professional fraternity in its field.

Chapter Members

The officers of the George Washington chapter are Frank H. Weitzel, president; Paul D. Dickens, vice-president; Nathan L. Ferris, secretary-treasurer; and Acting Dean John Donaldson, chairman of the faculty council, which includes Professor Lowell J. Ragatz, Professor Harold G. Sutton, Professor John A. Tillema, Professor Dudley W. Willard, and Professor Willard H. Yeager.

Other charter members include Wroe Alderson, Herbert E. Angel, Emory E. Bundy, Robert Brinker, Lester C. Dickenson, Margaret J. Dunthitt, Elizabeth B. Drewry, Eleanor M. Hough, Adelaide Kline, Emily Kline, M. Frances May, Grace M. McLean, Elizabeth R. Miller, Hazel Peterson, Howard S. Payne, Margaret V. Rees, Ralph Stauby, and Cecil T. White.

AT FRIDAY GAME BY HEART ATTACK AT FRIDAY GAME

Assistant Professor Dies Suddenly In Stands; Was Well Known Locally

Ralph B. Foster, assistant professor of Romance Languages at George Washington University, died suddenly while attending the G. W. C. U. football game Friday night. He was well known locally for his interest in and knowledge of philology and literature, as well as for the subjects in which he was instructing.

Professor Foster joined the University staff in 1924 as an instructor in French and Spanish and was made assistant professor the next year.

He received his education in the public schools of Kansas, his native state, at the University of Idaho from which he was graduated in 1913, and from Oxford University in England, receiving his A.B. and M.A. from the latter school.

Served in Army

After serving with the Army Y. M. C. A. in Egypt in 1916 and 1917, Professor Foster was transferred to the Army of Intelligence of the A. E. F., with which he was connected until the end of the war.

Soon after the armistice, he was appointed an instructor in English and history at the United States Naval Academy, where he served until his appointment to the George Washington faculty.

He is survived by his widow and two children.

Students In Jr. College Should Consult Adviser

Junior College students are reminded that they are expected to consult with their advisers at this time.

A list of the advisers and their office hours is printed below. Any student who does not know the name of his adviser may obtain that information at the office of the Junior College. It is essential that arrangements be made immediately for these conferences.

SWOPE BECOMES PICTURE EDITOR

Cherry Tree Elects Swope To Succeed Howard. As Photographic Head

The appointment of Bradford Swope as photographic editor and the announcement of many innovations and changes in the make-up of the 1930-31 Cherry Tree were made known following a meeting of the Cherry Tree Board last Sunday.

Swope, who succeeds Joe Howard as photographic editor, is well known around the campus, being a member of this year's senior class, a sports writer for The Hatchet, a former football manager, and a member of Gate and Key and Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternities.

With his appointment the work of photographing all the seniors, members of fraternities, sororities, clubs, and organizations will begin in earnest. It is requested that representatives of the various organizations get in touch with him or the photographer, Mr. Casson, immediately to make appointments. Sittings made before Christmas will be $2, while those taken after will be $2.50.

Entire Layout Changed

In its effort to make this year's Cherry Tree not only the best one in the history of the University but for time to come, the Cherry Tree board has made plans to change the entire layout of the book. In keeping with the theme, which has not as yet been divulged, the book this year will contain in its entirety five complete sections, one to represent each of the following schools: Columbian College, Medical School, Law School, Engineering School, and the School of Education.

Each one of these schools will have a distinct editor, a representative of that particular school, who will have complete charge of his section.

Should Be Popular

This innovation, one of the most marked in the history of the University, should meet with the heartiest approval of the student body in that for the first time the various schools will be represented by their own endeavors.

Consistent with this change the Cherry Tree Board promises to see that every school is given as much space as the enthusiasm of that particular school warrants.

Anyone desiring a conference with a member of the Cherry Tree should leave word in the new Cherry Tree office, which is located in the rear room of Building P, campus entrance. All announcements and communications concerning persons connected with the annual will be posted on the bulletin board in the office.

Newman Club Will Give Card Party Friday Night

A card party will be held by the Newman Club at the Hotel Roosevelt on Friday evening, November 28, at 8:30 o'clock.

In view of the keen interest and sincere cooperation which is being shown by friends and members of the club, a pleasant and successful evening is assured.

Tickets may be secured from the following members of the committee: Anna King, chairman; Anna Bodony, Barbara Gelzer, Eugene Jansen, Mae Joseph, Helen Kelly, George Lynch, Ray Makari, Edward Maloney, Mary Mattingly, Wilbert May, Ruth O'Neil, Mary Louise Parks, George Preiffenberger, Clement Ryan, Dorothy Vennwitz.

Mathematics Club Meets

The Mathematics Club held a meeting on Monday night, November 24, at eight o'clock.

The speaker of the evening was Professor Dantzig of the mathematics department of the University of Maryland. He spoke on "The Origins of Non-Euclidean Geometry." The Math Club is always glad to have anyone interested attend its meetings.

The supreme thrill for which George Washington University students had been waiting for six years was presented to them by the 1930 football team last Friday night at Griffith Stadium, when Catholic University's eleven was decisively trounced, 18-13, in one of the most breath-taking battles ever staged between the traditional rivals.

Spiking all rumors that they were lacking in "school spirit," the seventeen players who got into action for the Buff and Blue fought like wildcats for a supporting student-packed stand, which stayed behind them throughout the see-saw battle. Twice the Colonials found themselves on the short end of the score and twice the inspired gridgers exhibited come-back qualities that were remarkable.

While all but one of the G. W. combatants were sophomores, they played against their school's most hated foe as if they, too, had nursed a life-long grievance and their spirit coincided precisely with that displayed by their backers throughout the game. All in all, it was inevitable that G. W.'s greatest desire should be fulfilled. To them, and to Coach Jimmy Pixie, who coached the team to the momentous affair, our hats are off!

Fenlon Rewarded

Taking nothing from the other sixteen players who contributed fine support for the sake of the cause, there was one Colonial whose actions undeniably stamped him as the hero of the year and earned for him an award unique in the history of G. W. football celebration. Leading his mates to victory was sensational Johnny Fenlon, 150 pounds of dynamic power, was made to realize the hero that he was when he was hoisted to the shoulders of an enthusiastic group of students and carried off the field at the close of the game. Seldom has a G. W. player received such recognition from his supporters.

But if anyone was deserving of such, Fenlon was. Besides directing his team to victory from the signal-telling post, Johnny played the dominant part in the winning attack, time and again proving the spearhead of the Buff and Blue offensive and setting a pace unequalled by any Colonial grid athlete for many years. Carrying the ball, Johnny seldom failed to gain, and once beyond the line of scrimmage, was almost unstoppable.

His speedy, shifty tactics enabled him to elude the C. U. tacklers throughout the evening, and it was only right that he should be personally responsible for G. W.'s winning margin. With C. U. ahead, 13-12, in the fourth quarter, Johnny climaxed his night's work by scampering through the right side of C. U.'s line and running 45 yards for the touchdown which gave George Washington the lead, which it never lost, the feet little back easily outrunning a vainly pursuing bunch of would-be Cardinal tacklers.

Strain Is Terrific

That score, again putting the Buff and Blue in the lead, sent its followers into paroxysms of undefined joy. But, notwithstanding the fact that they were ahead, there were few Colonial supporters who did not feel relieved when the final whistle blew. The strain of the game was terrific and the tenseness of the atmosphere could be felt throughout the two hours' play.

In fact, hostilities threatened to break out between the halves, when a chain-gang of C. U. supporters attempted to ridicule G. W. by dragging a dummy with our letters stamped on it, all over the field. Here, George Washington's spirit became manifest, as a group of zealous Colonials rushed the Cardinal supporters, captured the dummy, and chased them back to their side of the field.

But, getting back to the game, it was that kind of an affair about which George Washington had possibly dreamed but little considered—an uphill fight resulting in a glorious triumph. Agonized in the second quarter when they saw Whalen of C. U. run through their team for 45 yards and six points, the plight of Colonial fans was remedied just before the half-time whistle blew when Billy Wells, whose accurate passes played a large part in the proceedings, shot a scorching aerial to Fred Mulvey, who grabbed it in the end zone for a touchdown. As Kriemelmeyer's kick was blocked, the teams left the field with the score tied, 6-6.

G. W. Takes Lead

Soon after resumption of play, however, George Washington took a lead over C. U. for the first time in six years when Wells again got off a brilliant heave to Lee Carlin, who ran 20

RALPH BAXTER FOSTER

Ralph Baxter Foster came to George Washington from the staff of the Naval Academy in 1924, as Instructor in Romance Languages. He was later promoted to the rank of Assistant Professor. During the past six years I have known him intimately, both personally and officially.

As a friend Ralph Foster was sincere, cordial and quietly helpful. He was endowed with unfailing good temper and equanimity. In his home life he was fortunate in having a charming wife and two little children. The birth of the younger, a little girl, late this summer, brought him great joy. As a teacher, Professor Foster was patient, kindly and thorough, never shirking a task, always willing to aid his colleagues at any moment of need.

Professor Foster died, not unfittingly, among the students whom he loved, while cheering the victory of a team of the University to which he had given glad and loyal service, and to which he was proud to belong. To his wife and family goes the deep sympathy of his many friends at George Washington University.

CHAPERONES

There is a University ruling to the effect that there must be three chaperones present at every mixed gathering sponsored by an official University organization. The names of these chaperones must be registered in Mrs. Barrows' office before the function takes place.

The official definition of a chaperon is "mature woman." Just what constitutes a mature woman is left to the discretion of the organization. The reasons for specifying the number three are rather obvious. The task of being a chaperon is not one of the most entertaining in the world. Two persons would be able to entertain each other, an advantage, and if three are present there is a still greater possibility of a congenial atmosphere. The organization has a definite obligation to its chaperones in seeing that they meet the people present and have a pleasant time. This is not the time to take up the question of the necessity for chaperones. The viewpoint of the University should be universally recognized by every one. A great many mothers and fathers are actively interested in the kinds of affairs their daughters attend, and hold the University responsible for the character of these affairs. The presence of chaperones does not necessarily distinguish an orderly and proper dance from another, but it is a tangible mark of propriety, and one recognized by the world-at-large.

This is a rule of the University, and one not difficult to obey. Is the student body going to cooperate with the administration?

Chi Sigma Gamma News

Chi Sigma Gamma, women's professional chemical fraternity, will not start its annual rushing season until next semester. Only women with high scholastic records are eligible for membership so rushing may not begin until grades are known. The organization is at present local in character, but it has petitioned for a national charter.

Engineers Visit Steel Works

Professor Max A. Lett's class in Materials of Construction will visit the Sparrows Point plant of the Bethlehem Steel Works on Wednesday, November 26. The party will leave Twenty-first and H Streets at 7:15 a. m., and arrive at Sparrows Point about 9:30 a. m.

Miss Constance La Fount, a former George Washington student and a Chi Omega, was married to Mr. John Snowcroft at 8:30, on November 20, 1930, at the Washington Club. The couple left for Salt Lake City immediately after the ceremony. Miss Indel Little and Miss Ruth De Vane, of George Washington were bridesmaids.

The Phi Lambda Kappa Medical fraternity held its pre-Thanksgiving pledge dance at the New Amsterdam Hotel on November 22.

Phi Lambda Kappa held its meeting last Sunday and elected its delegates to the annual convention in Baltimore. Harry Schiffer and Lou Hoffman were selected as delegates. M. Dick will act as alternate.

Sigma Phi Epsilon announces the pledging of Charles Tatum, Albert McMullan and Greenville Fowler.

Miss Lillian Roth, who played in "The Love Parade" and "Honey," was a guest at the Delta Tau Delta house last Tuesday. Miss Roth made an appearance at the Earle last week.

Drama Club Meets For Short Plays and Readings

After a short business meeting last Wednesday the G. W. Dramatic Club presented a program, consisting of two plays and two readings.

The first play was entitled "The Man in the Bowler Hat." The cast consisted of Dot Wilson, Winifred Whitney, Hazen Shea, Tom Finlayson, John Stewart, and Alton Williams. The second was a skit on cubist art called "The Illuminati in Drama Libre." This was presented by Phyllis Mills and Florence Jacobs.

One of the highlights of the evening was the reading given by Catherine Logan which was an interpretation of negro dialect. Tom Finlayson gave the other reading, which was a story entitled "The Startling Adventures of Captain Applesauce."

The next meeting will be held on Wednesday, December 3, in Corcoran Hall. The first part will be devoted to business and then two interesting plays will be given.

G. W. Football Stock Takes Rise As Albright Ties Unbeaten Eleven

Football stock at George Washington took a decided rise last Saturday by virtue of the result of a certain game in the East which had elicited little consideration until the final result became known. Western Maryland, one of the leading teams in the East, unbeaten and untied for two years, was held to a 7-to-7 tie by Albright, G. W.'s conqueror of the previous week, about which "little was known."

George Washington's 33-to-0 lacing, received at the hands of Albright, caused much gloom around the campus last week, but considering the fact that Albright accomplished something that Georgetown couldn't do—the Hilltoppers having taken a 10-to-0 licking from Western Maryland—maybe our boys weren't so bad after all. And remember—they were playing in a crippled condition against Albright!

Junior-Senior Team Wins Interclass Hockey Games

Interclass hockey matches last week ended in victory for the junior-senior team.

The junior-seniors held the freshmen to a 3-to-1 game and the sophomores to 4 to 0.

The sophomore-junior-senior game was looked forward to with great interest, both teams having won one other match. The game was a hard-fought one, but the brilliant playing of Kay McCallum and Martha Benson won the game for the junior-senior team.

Archery Matches Featured In Women's Sports Week

Archery tournaments took a prominent part in the Women's Sports Week program. Both team and individual matches were held.

The sophomores defeated the freshmen by a score of 125 points to 120. Members of the winning team were: Doris Troth, captain; Helen Koehne, Dorothea Adams, and Louise Wright.

Helen Koehne won the individual tournament with a score of 152 points. The runners-up were Helen Lambert, Carol Simpson, and Nora Slifer.

ONE will always stand out!

Sport Axe

Fenlon—Fenlon—Fenlon! The school ought to rise up and shake that youngster by the hand. We have never seen more beautiful offensive work than he displayed last Saturday night. As some one in the stands remarked, "that fellow just seems to loaf along and disappear in the line. Then all of a sudden he pops out the other side and is gone. And how!" And how, is right!

Sam Berkowitz got his last shot at C. U. Judging from the way he played he won't have any trouble making that All-Jewish All-American team again this year. Let's hope that some of the big boys of that organization have seen him go. How does it feel to be on the winning side for a change, Sammy?

The noon issue of The News carried an interesting article last Saturday. In reference to the game it said, "The Colonial coaching staff can no longer complain of a lack of support on the part of the G. W. cheering section."

The statement is of greater significance than it sounds. George Washington has always backed its teams. Perhaps not in the way that most schools have done, but at least in its own way.

The complaints which were so readily given out last year were only the natural outcome of several disastrous seasons. They were critical, yes, they had to be. At times they were severe. But they were meant to be constructive. This year the team has not given rise to the expectations so hoped for by the majority of non-thinking students, those men who wanted every game a victory. They now admit they wanted too much. But we noticed several, who had been prominent among this group, yelling their "heads off" at the C. U. game. They were out to give their moral support, it nothing else. Besides this, the backing of the student body had its effect upon the men on the field. Las Sommers says "there wasn't anything which pepped him up so much as the continual yells from the stands." A prominent sports writer for one of the local papers says that at last he has seen the day when a G. W. cheering section could out-vell a C. U. section. And he has waited four years to see the feat performed.

Some one sent in to this column a complaint of the dollar charge made for admission. For his benefit, as well as that of the student body, we'd like to announce that one-half of the gate receipts came back to the G. W. athletic department, so he needn't feel badly about his money. We'd also like to say that football teams do have an occasional use for a little spare change. Bringing such teams as South Dakota here is not an inexpensive proposition.

The Colonial Cubs were trimmed 25 to 6 by the C. U. Frosh. The beating was not as bad as it seems, however, for the Cardinals made one touchdown from a blocked kick and another from a 15-yard penalty which placed the ball on our 1-yard line and gave them first down. It's the breaks that win the games, as we've heard before.

Navy, 6; Maryland, 0. We're glad that Navy won, but from a pure psychological viewpoint only. If the Academy "Blue" can trim Maryland they can consider us as victims also, and figure that they can win without any great exertion. And that means that they will let down, perhaps, and not play hard ball, at least, not as hard as they might. Then also they have the University of Pennsylvania to look forward to the following Saturday while this is our last game of the season. The boys, as a whole, are primed for the Navy. They realize that although Navy has had an off year they are still a hard nut to crack. And this is especially true with the tradition of their home field behind them. The squad's opinion is ably summed up in Sturdevant's expression, "We'll win or bust." Although this is an "away from home" game, Annapolis is close enough to home to make this statement actually not true. Our advice is to go early and get a seat. Everyone in school is going and with the outcome of the C. U. game and of the Albright-Western Maryland game there'll also be a few grads present. We already know of a party of 50 of them. In more simple words the stands are going to be packed and jammed and everybody will be huddled together in one conglomerate mass.

We overheard several C. U. men at the frosh game last Saturday saying that if Johnny Oliver had been in the game last Friday night the score would have been different. Maybe so! But Joe Carter and Blacky Hoffman sat on the bench for us, also crippled, and had they been available we're inclined to think that the score would have been different. Besides that, our strongest array in the line was not used.

Jerry Sickler will save his "dance of the woken snake" until this Saturday as the crowd of 10,000 people was not large enough to satisfy his professional dignity. He must have at least 11,000 people before he will perform. But it's coming, so keep an open eye between the halves.

Get your tickets and get started early and let's be on hand to give the boys the biggest thing we can when they come out on the field—a great hand. Get behind and push—the Colonial Axe is going to spike the Navy Gun. See you there.

Four basketball games and one forfeit marked the continuance of the interfraternity league contests last week.

The Sigma Phi Epsilon and Sigma Alpha Epsilon teams were extended to take close, hard fought games from Kappa Alpha and Acacia, their respective opponents, while Sigma Nu and Kappa Sigma scored easy wins over Sigma Chi and Theta Delta Chi. The game between Phi Sigma Kappa and Delta Tau Delta, in which the former were the heavy favorites to win, was forfeited by the Deltas by their non-appearance Friday night.

As a result of these games, the lead position in League A is still shared by Sigma Nu and Phi Sigma Kappa, while S. P. E. maintains its narrow margin of one win over Kappa Sigma for the top of the B League.

Hickman is Star

A nine-point forfeit by the Kappa Sigma quintet for tardiness was easily overcome in the first period of their one-sided contest with Theta Delta Chi in the curtain-raiser for Monday night. Led by Hickman, the ultimate winners started on their terrific drive with the opening whistle and continued scoring points until the end of the game. Hickman's total for the first half was 12 points, to which he added one more floor sinker in the last frame for a total of 14.

The second half was featured by the scoring of Edwards for the victors. Showing the way in the fast, killing pace of the period, this star counted 16 points for his aggregation making his total for the game 18. The final outcome of the contest was a top-heavy showing of a 58-17 count for Kappa Sigma.

S. A. E. Defeats Acacia

Monday night's second tilt was a more interesting and more closely fought game which resulted in an S. A. E. victory over the Acacia outfit. The winners nipped out their opponents by a margin of 8 points for a 25-17 score, with Burgess and Watkins accounting for 13 of the winning counters between them. McQueen, the high scorer for the losers, rang up the majority of points for his team, getting 7 during the entire battle.

Kappa Alpha's quintet was easily overcome by the smooth S. P. E. machine in the opener on Wednesday night. The first half was closely contested at a fast and furious pace, ending with the winners holding the long end of a 10-6 count. Noticeably slower play by the K. A. five in the second half, while the S. P. E. outfit continued to garner points for a total of 7, put the battle on ice for the B League leaders. Terry, red-headed flash of the Sig Eps, made a good run for the high individual total with 11 points, while Bowman and Hayes monopolized the scoring honors for the losers.

Sigma Nu Easy Winner

A one-way contest between Sigma Nu and Sigma Chi for the second battle of the evening resulted in a 41-10 win for the former. The winners started early in the game on their scoring spree, and held the edge throughout the entire scrap with fast play and good teamwork. Sigma Nu's high scorer for the game was Woodward, who accounted for 12 points. Two baskets by Frazier led the attack of the losers. This week's games are as follows:

Monday, December 1—Acacia vs. Sigma Nu, Theta Upsilon Omega vs. Kappa Alpha; Wednesday, December 3—Phi Sigma Kappa vs. Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Sigma Phi Epsilon vs. Theta Delta Chi; Friday, December 5—Sigma Chi vs. Delta Tau Delta, Kappa Sigma draws a bye for the week.

A game between Kappa Sigma and Sigma Phi Epsilon may be played on Tuesday, December 2. This contest, only tentatively scheduled as yet, will probably be the deciding one in the League B race to decide the entry in the finals.

Annual Shoot Between Grads and Undergrads Scheduled For Tonight

The Colonial Rifle Team will have its first test of the year tonight when the Buff and Blue Alumni will be met in the annual shoot between the grads and the undergrads. The match will be shot on the George Washington range.

Among the prominent alumni who are in Washington and from whom the graduate team will be picked are Frank Parsons, varsity coach; George Campbell, Walter Stokes, Bill Lane, Bob Leighay, Thad Riley, Hugh Riley, and C. S. Shields. A team composed of any five of these former G. W. shots would probably give the 1930 Colonials a hard fight.

The five men to shoot for the varsity tonight will probably be Barr, Tomelden, Jackson, Boudinot, and Meicer. A captain for the coming season will be chosen after tonight's match.

WHO'S WHO ON G. W.'S GRIDIRON

Johnny Fenlon

There is one man on the Colonial's team that it will take a long time for Catholic University to forget, and that man is Johnny Fenlon, of Cheboygan, Mich. Much of the credit for G. W.'s victory over C. U. goes to that little boy who performed at quarter-back last Friday night. His flashy runs and receiving of forward passes stood out brilliantly, as did his effective defensive play. That 45-yard dash for the winning touchdown will long be remembered by all the loyal supporters of the Buff and Blue team. Johnny was more or less of a dark horse, because he has been kept in the background, appearing in only a few of the varsity games thus far. But anyone who thought that he was too little or too light for varsity work, now has only to look at his record against Catholic to have that notion completely dispelled. It is difficult to offer too much praise to this flash from the Wolverine state, and he will be closely watched at Annapolis on Saturday, both by the Navy team and by the ever loyal and encouraging G. W. student body. Whatever we say is not enough, but we're all behind Johnny Fenlon.

G. W. Frosh Beat A. U. 2-0

By a score of 2 to 0 the G. W. freshmen conquered the freshman hockey team of American University in the Sports Day held on the Ellipse, Saturday, November 22. After the games a tea and discussion group was held at the Allies Inn.

INSPIRED COLONIAL GRIDDERS WIN, 18-13

yards for another score. It was a brilliant bit of work on the part of Carlin as well as Wells, for the former made a sparkling catch over his shoulder without lessening speed.

In the next few moments, however, the C. U. team got to work again and once more took the lead. Two long runs by Whalen led to the touchdown, that had first getting away for 47 yards and being brought down by Galloway on G. W.'s 25-yard line, and a moment later breaking through to score from the 15-yard line, tying the score at 12-12. De Mello's place-kick put C. U. in the lead again.

But that only set the stage for Fenlon. While the third quarter ended without further score, the last period was not very old when the G. W. situation had been relieved, Fenlon's aforementioned 45-yard, game-winning run being the reliever.

Cardinals Pass Vainly

It was in vain that the Cardinals tried to score for the remaining ten minutes of the game. It was in vain that they sent Johnny Oliver, their star, into the game to throw over-shoulder passes, and it was in vain that they sent their receivers far down the field with the hope of snagging one of Oliver's desperate heaves. Carlin again stepped into the line, light by intercepting one of the aerials just as the game ended.

While some few of our heroes have been mentioned, everyone of the squad deserves a word of praise. Kriemelmeyer's effective kicking, which ever kept the enemy at bay, played a large part in the proceeding; the big blonde boy consistently getting off long boots which averaged 33 yards in ground gain. Sammy Berkowitz, the only one who had ever faced C. U. before, did his bit toward the final result which eased his mind after three years of disappointment.

And let no one forget the work of the Colonial line which made C. U.'s forward wall resemble the well known sieve and made possible the continual advances of the Buff and Blue ball carriers. Here was a group of lads trained to function as one through the efforts of Assistant Coach Len Walsh, each of them playing his part in clear, gang way for the "G. W. Parade." Galloway and Mulvey, at the ends, were able guardians of the flank, with the latter coming in for a substantial part of the glory by catching the pass which tied the score at the end of the first half.

Reserves Powerful

The work of "Sheriff" Hale and Walter Slaird, at tackles, was superb, while "Bugs" Bagranoff, before he was injured, and "Las" Sommers stood out eminently at guard. And Chambers' accurate passing from center played as important a part as any one thing. Moreover, it was a revelation to witness the work of the five line reserves, Sturdevant, Wilson, Chestnut, Duffalo, and Lannon, all of whom demonstrated that they were ready for the emergency.

No recital of the game would be complete without mention of a little pre-game incident that probably had its effect on all of the players. Showing his zealous interest in the affair and acquainting the team with his confidence, Dr. Marvin, president of the University, went on the field just before the opening whistle to personally wish the team luck. It ably demonstrated to the entire student body as

FRESHMEN DROP GAME TO C. U. A.

Lose Annual Clash 25-6; C. U. Freshmen Prove Too Strong For Cubs

The Colonial Cubs met the C. U. Frosh in the annual clash of the season on Saturday, November 22, and came out on the short end of the 25-6 score. This game, generally played on Thanksgiving Day, was held Saturday in order that the Cubs might meet the Plebes of the Naval Academy on Thanksgiving. The game started as did the varsity game the night before with both teams holding fast. The end of the first quarter saw a score of 0-0, for both teams had shown some good football.

It was during the second quarter that the goal line was first crossed by either team, and it was the Cubs who did the trick. A recovery of a fumble of Jankowski's by a G. W. man started them on the road to a touchdown. Several line plunges and then a fairly long pass, Fouts to Morlan, carried the ball across. The kick for the extra point went wide and the G. W. score remained at six points for the rest of the game. C. U. took the kick-off, and after battering the Cubs' line to make its way deep into G. W. territory, a pass, McVean to Halloran, tied up the score. The try for extra point was successful, thereby giving C. U. the lead, 7-6.

Aerial Attack Succeeds

In the third period the heavier C. U. line went through the Cubs' line-up for another touchdown but failed to make the extra point afterwards. The aerial attack of the Cardinal Freshmen was responsible for the rest of the C. U. scores, all coming in the last quarter. After constant line plunging to bring the ball into G. W. territory, and then a pass, the Cardinals crossed the line again. The last touchdown came near the end of the game by virtue of another pass by McVean.

Fouts, Morland, and Hickman were the outstanding men for the G. W. freshmen, and it is with the power shown by these men that the Cubs expect to make a creditable showing against Navy "B" squad when they meet them this week.

The line-up:

Second Grid Banquet Postponed Indefinitely For Lack of Speaker

Because no outstanding speaker could be obtained, the second annual football banquet, originally scheduled for December 3, has been indefinitely postponed. However, the plans of the Colonial Club, sponsor of the affair, indicate that the banquet will be held soon after the Christmas holidays or the first part of February.

Last year Coach Bill Ingram, of the United States Naval Academy, was the principal speaker, and notwithstanding the disastrous season suffered by the eleven, the banquet was one of the most successful athletic affairs ever held under the auspices of the University.

In order to maintain that reputation, the Colonial Club decided to wait until a time when conditions were at the best possible stage and not attempt to conduct one right at the end of the 1930 grid season.

VARSITY WILL MEET NAVY TEAM SATURDAY

commanding position among the East's outstanding teams, but G. W.'s crushing defeat leaves the situation no better.

To those who have not seen a high-class team in action this season, Saturday presents them with the chance. Navy's backfield and line are on a par with any in this section of the country and the natural color and glamor of a game at Annapolis is an attraction in itself. This fellow, Kirt, the Tars' dashing halfback, is a dangerous ball carrier in every sense of the word, and will test G. W.'s defensive strength to the limit. And Navy's line gave him the opportunity for a 65-yard run on the second play of the game last Saturday.

With a squad of 52 players, Navy can well afford to jerk a man in and out of the line-up at will, presenting another handicap for George Washington's 30-man squad to overcome on Saturday. A 26-2 defeat at the hands of Notre Dame has been "its most one-sided defeat," but that, at the hands of the universally-acknowledged greatest team in the country, is no disgrace. And among its victories, Navy looks with pride to a 31-0 defeat of Princeton two weeks ago.

G. W. "Under-dog"

Admittedly the "under-dog," the Buff and Blue team is going into the battle with no fears or quakings, but with the determination of making the best possible showing and counting a close score not at all as an impossibility. That 18-13 defeat of C. U. last week, left the team with worlds of confidence—a confidence borne of deeds accomplished and not of idle speculation.

Coming out of the C. U. game a most completely intact, the team is physically fit for the test. "Bugs" Bagranoff pulled a painful muscle injury early in the fray last Friday but vows to be in the line-up this Saturday, assuring the team of its strongest array, as Joe Carter's shoulder injury has healed and will permit his performance.

A backfield of Johnny Fenlon, Lee Carlin, "Otis" Kriemelmeyer, and either Billy Wells or Sammy Berkowitz has given G. W. fans a new lease on life and will be looked upon to continue their good deeds started last Friday.

Rifle Squad Members Form Practice Teams

Buff's Tie Blues, 401-401, in First Competition

The women's rifle squad has been divided into two teams, the Buff and the Blue. The high five in each group shot in an inter-team match, Saturday, November 22, which ended in a tie-score of 491-491.

Roberta Wright is captain of the Buff team, while India Bell Corea captains the Blue. The coeds have shown much enthusiasm, and there has been close competition this season. Practices are held Tuesdays and Thursdays from 11 o'clock until 3, and from 7 until 9; Wednesday from 12 o'clock until 3.

Individual scores for the inter-team match were:

Buff	Blue
Wright	98
Seibert	100
I. Corea	99
Raynor	98
Mundy	96
I. B. Corea	100
Lane	99
Johnson	98
Shelfield	97
Kerr	97

New Chapters Are Formed By Alpha Lambda Delta

Four New Groups Installed In Past Year

Alpha Lambda Delta, national honorary fraternity for freshman women, has officially announced the installation of four new chapters in outstanding institutions of the country. These four new members were installed as follows: University of Mississippi, at University, Miss., on Friday, May 16, 1930; University of Alabama, at Tuscaloosa, Ala., on Saturday, May 17, 1930; Pennsylvania State College, at State College, Pa., on Saturday, May 24, 1930; and University of South Dakota, at Vermillion, S. D., on Tuesday, May 27, 1930. The George Washington chapter, installed in April, 1930, has been very successful thus far. The active membership at present is 11. It is hoped that this number will be increased considerably in February, when the fraternity will hold the second initiation of the year.

SUMMER SCHOOL TO BE EXPANDED

Courses in Social Sciences, Government Emphasized By
First President

Inaugurating its celebration of the bicentennial of the birth of George Washington, The George Washington University will develop its summer sessions this year along greatly expanded lines, making available a comprehensive program of studies in the Social Sciences and in Government, which, through focusing attention upon American institutions and ideals, will be of nation-wide import.

World authorities in the field of political science and international relations will be brought to the University as visiting professors. Among the eminent scholars who have accepted invitations to teach at The George Washington University during the coming summer is Frederic Austin Ogg, professor of Political Science and chairman of the Graduate Division of Social Studies of the University of Wisconsin.

Professor Ogg is considered the world's outstanding authority in Political Science. He is the author of a number of texts which are used in Political Science courses at colleges and universities throughout the country.

While the greatest expansion of courses for the summer sessions naturally will occur in the School of Government, the program also will extend to the School of Education, where particular attention will be devoted to the training of teachers of the Social Sciences. The newly organized Junior College will be represented with an unusually full curriculum, while courses of interest and value will be added to the programs of Columbian College, the College of Letters and Sciences of the University; the School of Engineering, the Law School, the Division of Fine Arts, and the Division of Library Science.

The summer sessions are under the direction of Dr. Robert Whitney Bolwell, professor of American Literature in the University.

OFFICIAL NOTICE

The dance announced for the evening of Friday, November 21, was postponed primarily because no satisfactory evidence was submitted that the regulations of the University with regard to chaperonage had been complied with. The Committee on Student Life is sorry to deprive students of opportunities for social activities, but the regulations of the University are perfectly definite and the Committee has no choice but to enforce them. The Committee hopes that similar action will not be necessary again.
(Signed) HENRY G. DOYLE,
Chairman, Committee on Student Life.

Chaperonage Regulations

"Definition — A chaperon is a responsible person, approved by the committee to act in this capacity, whose duties are: (1) To be present at the opening of the function they are chaperoning; (2) to remain until all guests have left; (3) to report to the committee any violation of University regulations or of good order in general.

"(a). Each organization shall file with the committee, not later than October 1 of each school year, a list of not less than ten names of persons willing to act as chaperons at social events under its auspices. Such list shall contain the following information:

"1. Name of organization filing list.
"2. Name, address and telephone number of officer in charge of social activities, or of president if there is no such officer.
"3. Name in full of each chaperon.
"4. City address of each chaperon.
"5. Telephone number of each chaperon.

"6. A statement of proposed chaperon's interest in or connection with the University or organization.

"7. Date of graduation of proposed chaperon, if alumnus.
"(b). The Committee, not later than October 15, will return to each organization an approved list of chaperons for that academic year.

"(c). Additions may be made to this list at any time subject to the approval of the committee.

"(d). At the time of filing application for a date, a list of chaperons to be invited to the specific event must be filed.

"(e). Not later than two days before the event, scheduled written acceptances from such chaperons must be filed with the committee.

"(f). For a fraternity, sorority, or club dance there shall be not less than three chaperons; for general University functions, there shall be at least eight."

Meeting Last Sunday

The second meeting of the year of Les Jongleurs was held Sunday, November 23, at the home of Mildred Burnham. Jo Eileen Rudnick and Ron Hubbard were given official tryouts for admission to the club. The reception they will receive on their first public presentation will determine their admittance to the organization.

The program was planned at the request of the Y. W. C. A. to be presented at the County Fair, December 6. Les Jongleurs announces a tentative plan to present a vaudeville in the third or fourth week of March. It will be a regular two-hour performance at a small theater at very reasonable prices. It is to be presented simply to place before the University the work that Les Jongleurs has been doing all winter. That is, providing entertainment free of charge for the benefit of University organizations.

Glee Club Opens Season At Local University Club

Popular Selections of Last Year Make Up Program

The George Washington University Glee Club opened its concert season with a comprehensive and well-directed program presented at the University Club last Thursday evening.

The Glee Club, under the direction of Dr. Robert H. Harmon, and with the able assistance of Mrs. Harmon as accompanist, has not only achieved local distinction but holds at present the National Intercollegiate Championship won in competition with all of the most noted college clubs of the country. It has been heard frequently in radio concerts and at various theaters.

Several of the numbers were familiar as they were the most popular of last year's selections. Distinctive in this group were Bach's, "Let Every Tongue Adore Thee," "Benedictus," by Gounod, and an old sea chanty, "Old Man Noah." This last selection seemed especially appreciated.

The club displayed a fine attack, executing crescendos with an excellence above par. Singers in the first tenor and baritone parts are to be especially commended. The singing of these two groups was readily distinguishable at all times and in perfect harmony.

"La Borrequita," a Mexican serenade, was excellently sung by Richard Kilstein, the club's soloist. Mr. Kilstein, a tenor, possesses a wide range with culture and sincerity, and his rendition was so enthusiastically received that he was literally forced to repeat the chorus of the number as an encore.

Grace Ruble Harmon performed in her usual capable manner in accompanying the singers. She offered a pianologue which was well received by the audience. The program was supplemented by Earl Carbaugh, well known baritone, accompanied by Lillian Carbaugh. Mr. Carbaugh's voice rang with emotion and tenderness in his best selection, "The Rose."

The concert was presented in the attractive setting of the dining rooms thrown on suite and lavishly decorated with palms and ferns. Lewis Lofton Moneyway, chairman of the Entertainment Committee of the University Club, had nothing but the highest of praise for the singing of the club.

Becomes Member of
G. W. Medical Faculty

Dr. Walter A. Bloedorn, in September, was appointed Assistant Dean in charge of the Clinical Division and professor of Medicine.

Dr. Bloedorn was graduated from Creighton University School of Medicine in 1909 and received his A. B. and M. A. from George Washington in 1915 and 1916. He has studied extensively both here and abroad, having done work at New York Post-Graduate School, Mayo Clinic, National Hospital for Diseases of the Heart, London; National Hospital for Diseases of the Nervous System, Queens Square, London, and Allgemeine Krankenhaus, Vienna.

Dr. Bloedorn is chief of staff at Gallinger Municipal Hospital. He is a member of the District Medical Society, American Medical Association, Torch Club, International Medical Society, Clinical Club, and Fellow of the American College of Physicians. He has done considerable research work, his articles having appeared in the leading medical journals.

Episcopal Club Makes Up
Baskets For Thanksgiving

Plans of the Episcopal Club for the holiday season are well under way. Kennedy Watkins, president, and Judith Wood, vice president, have called the next meeting for December 4. All meetings this year are being held at the St. John's orphanage.

Meanwhile all members have been asked to bring staple groceries for Thanksgiving dinners to the house of Virginia Bonifant by November 24. These are to be given to the city through Mr. Dow, chairman of the City Missions of the Episcopal Church.

There will be also a bridge party given on December 11, at the home of Mary Fleming.

Plans Formulated For Panhellenic Congress

The Panhellenic Council is now making plans for the Congress of all the fraternity women on the campus, which is to be held on January 10. There will be round table discussions on freshman education, the meaning of a fraternity, the freshman's obligation to a fraternity, and general rushing plans.

Each year the council sponsors a tea dance for the purpose of sending delegates to the annual convention of the Panhellenic Association of urban universities which will be held in February at Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill.

This tea dance will be given some time in January, and notice will appear at a later date in The Hatchet.

Professor Hunter To Speak

In connection with the Household Problems course, the Home Economics Department announces a talk on December 3, by Professor Hunter of the Law Department. The subject is "Property Holding: Question of Taxation and Assessments for Public Improvements." All who are interested are invited to attend in Building C at 5:10 Wednesday, December 3.

Student Notices

The first meeting of the Modern Poetry Club will be held on Wednesday, December 3, at 1 o'clock, in Corcoran Hall 17. All old members and those who are interested in joining this year are invited to attend.

There will be an important meeting of The Hatchet staff in room 29, Corcoran Hall, on Wednesday, November 26, at 7:30 p. m. All editors, assistants, reporters and those out for positions as reporters must be present.

Alumni Association Holds Second Luncheon Dec. 6

Programs Now Being Devoted To Activities of University

The second of the series of monthly luncheons being given by the General Alumni Association of The George Washington University will take place on Saturday, December 6, at 12:30 o'clock, at the Hotel Lafayette.

The luncheon programs this year are being devoted to various phases of the activities of the University. At the opening luncheon, held November 1, Dr. Cloyd Heck Marvin, president of the University, reviewed the general progress of the University for the enthusiastic group of 200 alumni in attendance. This time the alumni will be given an insight into the University's physical education program. The speakers will be the director of physical education for men, Professor James E. Pixlee, and the director of physical education for women, Professor Ruth Atwell.

The officers of the Association were especially pleased to have in attendance at the November luncheon a large number of faculty members. They wish to renew their invitation to members of the faculty, and to call to the attention of new faculty members that they are especially and very cordially invited to be present at the alumni luncheons.

Student Council Formed By School of Pharmacy

A representative council, whose purpose it is to bring students into closer touch with their professors, has been elected by the members of the School of Pharmacy here. This council, composed of Vernon Frazier, senior; Edward Smyser, sophomore, and Chris Koutsoukos, freshman, will meet Monday, November 24, with Professor Briggs, to discuss student problems.

At present there are seven graduate students working on theses for the degree of bachelor of science in Pharmacy. These theses are to cover research work on the phytochemical analysis of old drugs to determine their constituents and properties.

October 14 was set aside this year throughout the United States as the opening date of Pharmacy Week. The purpose was to bring the professional side of pharmacy before the public, and to let them know that the drug store of today does much more than sell sandwiches, but through the united efforts of pharmacists is constantly carrying on scientific research to aid in health, happiness, and general well being.

Life of St. Augustine Is Topic of Lecture At Newman Club Meeting

Dr. Joseph P. Christopher of Catholic University addressed the Newman Club at its meeting on November 20, on "The Life and Works of St. Augustine."

Augustine's early life was not precisely that of a saint, Dr. Christopher pointed out. Born during the early years of Christianity, he was in the midst of both pagan and Christian influences. In fact, his mother was a Christian and his father a pagan. He was born and educated in Carthage, and consequently he was familiar with both the African and Roman standards of living. The prevalent "loose living" of Carthage at that time influenced him in his choice of Christianity rather than paganism.

The literary works of St. Augustine discussed by Dr. Christopher were "Confessions" and "City of God."

The lesson that Dr. Christopher drew from the life of St. Augustine was that one should profit by his mistakes. Dr. Christopher aptly stated this as "Don't go through life with the measles."

Stenographer—"Your little girl wants to kiss you over the phone."
Busy Manager—"Take the message. I'll get it from you later."
